NEWS FROM THE SUBURBS.

A MINISTER SUES A WOMAN FOR LIBEL.

An interesting case is on the calendar for trial at the present term of the Circuit Court in Jersey City and it will probably be reached on January 11. It is a ribel suit brought by the Rev. Henry E. Decker against Harriet S. Ferdon. The plaintiff says that a few years ago he kept a bearding school for male pupils in a small village in Western New-York and Mrs. Ferdon's som was one of his pupils. Mrs. Ferdon is wealthy, is a sister of Judge Strong and lives in Passic. The plaintiff alleges that young Ferdon was troublesome, and on one occasion after he had been severely punished for some misdemeanor he threatened to be revenized. Shortly afterward the institution was burned to the ground and Mr. Decker was made homeless and penaless. Suspicion was so strong against young Ferdon that the Grand Jury of the county indicted him for arson, but the case never came to trial. Mr. Decker asserts that he preparing her soul's defence Mrs. Ferdon grossly libelled him and he now seeks to recover damages. It is said that evidence of peculiar interest will be brought out in the trial. A MINISTER SUES A WOMAN FOR LIBEL.

After the sermon Mr. Ayres rose and said that the resolutions of the council would be read at the first meeting of the church and entered on its books. The church would be opened next Sunday morning. The Sunday-school teachers would meet at Mr. Knight's house on Wednesday night and arrange for Sunday-school next Sunday, and the distribution of Christmas presents to the children. The former superintendent of the Sunday-school would be invited to resume his office at once. All members who had gone out he cordially invited to return.
